January 2001

Editorial

By Steve Lacker

I hope its immediately obvious that the newsletter has a bit of a new look this month. To be quite honest, the other clubs that we exchange newsletters with have finally shamed me into undertaking the task of re-formatting our newsletter. With the power of desktop publishing tools these days, there's no reason to continue cranking out a newsletter that looks like a book report. I have investigated the possibility of going further- possibly changing to a center-stapled format, including color, and so forth; but the bottom line is that such changes would prove too expensive to reproduce. As you may or may not know, this newsletter is duplicated through the extreme generosity of Insty Prints, and a more elaborate layout would be too much to ask of them. We'll probably put out some "special issues" using club finances, but for now we'll stick to our simple corner-stapled format. I do hope everyone finds the new page layout more pleasing. It certainly has the potential to save paper and postage.

Enough technical silliness, lets get down to Mopars. The upcoming months are fairly bleak as far as shows, swaps and so forth, but January is always a month that Mopar Muscle Cars of Austin looks forward to. January is the time when fearless Austin Moparphiles set forth, heedless of the wind and weather, in search of treasure. Yes, we're talking about the annual Mopar Muscle Cars of Austin 'Freeze Your Buns Junkyard Run'! The origins of this ritual are lost in the mists of time. Rumor has it that Terry Siegmund coined the name of the event. Its unknown whether an actual freezing of buns took place to inspire the name or not. If buns were frozen, I don't really want to know what they might have gotten frozen to, or what they were doing out in the open in the first place. Many good club stories (and incriminating rumors) have been associated with the annual run. Most famous in recent memory was the Great Torsion Bar Extraction Adventure at John's Salvage a couple of years ago. Factory Service manuals generally recommend something like "special tool C-qx12-24b" to remove torsion bars. But the club proved it can be done with screwdrivers, bare hands, cusswords, and a few guys laying on the trunk of the bottom car on a 3-car stack, feet above their heads, bracing the middle car on the 3-car stack with their feet, while several other guys hammered, pried, and cussed on at the T-bars. Not pretty, but definitely effective! I'm sure someone has a picture of Dave and Dean Haight as well as Dave Diskind in compromising positions. I'll pay good money for copies to run in the newsletter! Be sure to attend the January 2000 club meeting (usual time, Heart of Texas Dodge) in order to plan this years outing. We need a couple of good junkyards to hit, and we need to pick a date.

Speaking of the usual meeting time and place, it looks like we may have to make a change. The last couple of meetings have been "standing room only" in the portable building at HOT Dodge, so we're trying to locate a restaurant with a separate meeting room for the month of February. We realize that a moving meeting location presents a lot of problems, and we're trying to eliminate as many as possible. If we can locate a nice meeting room very close to HOT Dodge, that would be ideal. Several folks mentioned that they don't really want to eat dinner and would feel pressured to buy food if we met at a restaurant. We don't want this to be a turn-off for anyone, and if we do move to a restaurant we'll be sure to let them know that not all attendees will be eating. Most places are very cooperative in this respect, since they still clear a good profit just on the folks that do eat. We'll discuss this more at the January meeting as well.

Speaking of meetings at restaurants, the club Christmas Party was another great success. Food was eaten, families visited, silly gifts were exchanged (and occasionally fought over) and a good time was had by all. Thanks to everyone who came out!

It looks like the Austin "Classic Muscle Car Club" is getting off to a decent start. Several of us went to the first meeting, and I went to the second informal dinner meeting in December. The hope is that this group will provide some "synergy" in attending our events, and will provide some additional local events for us to attend as well. The first organized activity of the Classic Muscle Car Club will probably take place in January. It will be a rally-style event where folks have to team up and drive to various locations, note something that can only be determined by being there, and then meet at a final spot for food and socializing. It sounded like they were going to keep the rally fairly short (a couple of hours) so the whole thing would take around half a day. If anyone is interested, call me or E-mail and I'll pass any info I get along (512-426-4868, sglacker@texas.net).

Preparations are also underway for Kars for Kids this coming May. The next planning meeting will be Wednesday, Jan 10, 7:00 PM, at the ASI corporate offices at 4513 Burleson Road. Kit Neal has been our representative at these meetings for a long time now. Thanks, Kit! We've begun our donation collection as well, so if you want to give a buck or two, see Harry Amon at the January meeting.
